Ir was really too bad for Papa Grosvener. White hairs should bring wisdom. Alamogordo Cor. to Industrial Record

To use a hackneyed phrase, the "busy hum of industry" is abroad here-abouts. The throbbing, pulsating and energetic enterprise to be seen and heard on all sides; the big saw mills, the sound of the hammer and saw in the construct to exist in this province, but it has tion of buildings, gangs of laborers in the railroad vards; the switch engine rushing here and there, now with cars loaded with logs for the saw mills, then with cars loaded with coal destined for El Paso and other places, making up trains and such work as a switching crew is required to perform in all well regulated railroad distributing and division points.

So much has been written, and incidently it may be mentioned that exhaustive write-ups of this section will shortly appear, in the Industrial Record, about, not only Alamogordo, but of the vost undeveloped resources that are known to exist in this, Otero county, covering agricultural, horticultural, timber and mineral lands, that an effort in a news letter like this would be futile to a degree to do the subject justice, and would be very remote from conveying to the reader a just conception of the wonderful possibilities that will spring into existence as an ultimate result of the building of the El Paso & Northeastern railway.

New Baseball League.

Announcements as to the plans of a new rival to the National league continue to come from the west with a persistency that would seem to indicate the earnestness of those interested in the movement, among whom are mentioned Chris von der Ahe, Captain Anson, M. B. Scanlon of Washington and others whose sympathies and cash are said to be enlisted. It is said that the circuit of the new league will consist of Chicago, St. Louis, Buffalo and Detroit in the west and New York, Philadelphia, Washington and Baltimore in the east. Washington would probably support any organization that would insure patrons in that city a change from the tail end quality of ball the friends of the game there have tolerated for years past, and New York, in view of the record made by the Glants this year, would probably not be averse to giving up the price of admission to see a first class winning team in a rival league. The other cities mentioned for the circuit are all well known and long tried balltowns.-New York Commercial Adver-

Good Thing For Maine. Senator Frye of Maine says that his state feels hard times less than other states because of the $3,000,000 left there annually by sportsmen. The able commissioners of the state of Maine are endowed with considerable acumen and have long labored assiduously for the proper protection of fish and game; consequently the supply has been maintained, the state is the great Mecca for sportsmen far and wide, and it receives a handsome sum from them annually. Without the proper protection the game and fish supply would be depleted; the chief charm for sportsmen would be gone; they would not go there, and the state would not receive the $3,000,000 annually, Look at the question from either a sectimental or business point of view; it the guiches on the west side of the Sa- is applicable both ways, an object less son for other states and other prov-

THE BEEHIVE.

Put the bives near the erchard. Bees are needed among the iruit trees to fertilize them. With good management it costs little to keep a few hives of bees.

One advantage of the modern hive is that the bees can readily be kept in the enter of the hive. Have the entrances to the hives and the vicinity around them clean and convenient or the bees to get out and in readily. When it can be avoided, the hives should never be shifted on the stands. This conuses the bees and often causes trouble. The life of bees during the working season is very short, and it requit is a good laying queen to keep up the force of bees in the hive.

The proper time to transfer bees from box hives to movable frames is early in the spring before the comb becomes heavy with brood and honey.

The secret of large honey crops is strong colonies and plenty of room for the bees to store honey. Give each frame in the hive exactly 1½ inches of space.—St. Louis Republic.
